

To whom it may concern,

I am writing to land my support to my former secondary student Dorja Cug to attend Warsaw Film School.

I have known Dorja since 2016 when she became one of my English students at School for Art, Design, Graphics and Clothes Zabok. Throughout her secondary education she stood up as an exemplary student eager to take the most out of education and to perform as best as possible. Aside all curricular success she had, she was also one of those students who we could always count on for extracurricular activities.

I am glad to mention that she was one of three students who were willing to engage in our school's first eTwinning project TED-inspired speech competition: The Mock-Talks in which she presented a talk on music to students from France, Austria, Poland, and Slovakia. After that project she motivated all her class to join another eTwinning project, Well-being / happy and successful teenagers, which was awarded eTwinning Quality Label.

She was always interested in combining her knowledge in vocational subjects with core subjects, and she never stopped thinking outside the box. Her wide general knowledge and positive attitude helped her to become engaged in activities outside the school as well. Together with several other students she did a stop animation on the EU and participated in European competition, participated in Erasmus projects and projects of international cooperation with non-European countries. She presented our school in North Macedonia where she gave a speech and hosted a quiz about Croatia and Hrvatsko Zagorje to her peers in vocational school in Ilinden.

In conclusion, Dorja is an intelligent, witty, motivated, and hard-working young girl who has a lot of strengths that are still to be maximized. She has a lot to offer and will be a great asset to your school.

I proudly call myself her (former) teacher and having such a student on board can only be a benefit for everybody at school.

If you have any further questions, do not hesitate to contact me at barbara.hanjilec@gmail.com.

Sincerely,

Barbara Hanjilec

teacher mentor at School for Art, Design, Graphics and Clothes Zabok.

